

CTM CAREER PATH
(IW/SW/AW/SG/EXW)

Cryptologic Technician Maintenance (CTM). CTMs perform a variety of duties associated with the maintenance and operations of cryptologic communications systems at sea with limited shore requirements. Apprentice and Journeyman CTMs typically provide deployed cryptologic support functions to surface and submarine combatants in either a PCS or TAD status. Due to lack of CTM opportunities ashore, it is common for apprentice and journeymen CTMs to work out of rate while on shore duty. Master level CTMs have extremely limited sea duty and should be taking on challenging duties such as 3M Coordinators Afloat via Sea Special Programs when in-rate Staff Duty or EMO/AEMO opportunities are not available.

Notes:

1. "A" School required.
2. CTMs perform jobs in two functional areas: Fleet or Shore electronic maintenance (shore electronic maintenance requirements are extremely limited). Opportunities to diversify between functional areas are sometimes limited. Sea/Shore flow for CTMs is typically at least 48/36 months. Special duty assignments will vary depending on billet type and location. Duty that supports submarines is 60 months for first Sea tour.
 - a. CTM E7 and above may have multiple back-to-back shore rotations due to limited sea duty opportunities.
3. Fleet Electronic Support (FES) billets attached to Direct Support commands are considered sea duty billets providing real-time support to deployed combatants. CTMs on these tours maintain and prepare systems for shipboard installation, perform shipboard installation, and provide deployed maintenance support.
4. Subsurface FES (NIOC Hawaii/NIOD Groton) duty is considered arduous, and extremely challenging. CTMs have the opportunity to re-tour multiple times with the submarine community due to their technical expertise and corporate knowledge.
5. Career-enhancing shore tours should be positions in which enlisted leaders develop and mentor subordinates with an emphasis on career progression, continuing technical expertise, and leadership development. Senior CTM leadership opportunities while on shore are Staff duty at the OPNAV, TYCOM, FLEET, and NAVPERSCOM levels, NIOC, NIOD, NCWDG, CIWT, IWTC, IWTG, HOPPER DET, WHCA, NSW/DEVGRU/JCU, RTC/RDC, and CNRC.
6. The limited amount of career-enhancing sea duty tours should include department/division LCPO, Installation Coordinator, 3MC Afloat, Shipboard Division LCPO, or PRECOM duties for any platform. Challenging command-level collaterals and other qualifications that promote command's mission should be obtained where possible.
7. The CTM rating is participating in a pilot with SUBFOR. The CTMs PCS to Submarines during the pilot will be defining the Best and Fully Qualified standard for PCS Subsurface CTMs. Watch and Warfare Qualifications may deviate from the norm as CTMs integrate into the Submarine Force.

CTM CAREER PATH (IW/SW/AW/SG/EXW)

8. Enlisted Information Warfare is not mandatory, but should remain a factor of consideration when identifying Best Qualified candidates for advancement. Opportunity to qualify EIWS may be limited for CTMs serving outside the NAVIFOR domain, Refer to COMNAVIFORINST 1414.1(series) for information related to the EIWS program. Selection Boards should view other warfare qualifications as a noteworthy achievement.

9. Refer to Enlisted Selection Board Precept for general items not specific to CTM.

NOTE: College degrees are valued as continuing education, as well as certification(s) in Information Technology standards (e.g., Security+, Network+, CISSP, etc.) and USMAP. Some tours have availability to complete Defense Acquisition University (DAU) courses. Completing any of these are demonstrations of member's willingness to grow and improve their abilities.
