1. Policy

a. Per references (a), (b), and (c), article 6000-010; Navy Personnel Command (NAVPERSCOM), Line Of Duty/Medical Hold/Medical Retention Review Division (PERS-95) assigns physical risk classifications (PRCs) to officer and enlisted personnel based on the professional recommendation of Chief, Navy Bureau of Medicine and Surgery (BUMED). The PRC is recorded in the Inactive Manpower and Personnel Management Information System and the Medical Readiness Reporting System databases. When a member is not assigned a PRC, the individual is normally considered physically qualified for orders to active duty without restrictions.

b. NAVPERSCOM (PERS-95) will notify the member's chain of command, via official message, of the assigned PRC. The member will be notified by his or her chain of command. Once assigned, PRCs will remain in effect unless changed by NAVPERSCOM (PERS-95). A member may request reconsideration of a PRC by submitting additional substantive medical information to BUMED (M3B4), via the member's chain of command, for adjudication. Final action will be announced by NAVPERSCOM (PERS-95) message.

2. Classification Categories. NAVPERSCOM (PERS-95) assigns the following PRCs:

a. Physically Qualified - Assigned to a member who is generally considered physically qualified for assignment to all duties consistent with grade, designator, and rating; and is recommended for retention in the Navy Reserve. The member may have a minor physical defect or condition that must be monitored, but a PRC "physically qualified" is generally considered physically qualified for orders to active duty.

b. Not Physically Qualified with Retention Recommended - Assigned to a member who is generally considered physically qualified for assignment to all duties consistent with grade, designator, and rating; and is recommended for retention in the Navy Reserve. However, the member has a physical defect or condition that could restrict the member's active duty assignment. Personnel with this classification may require a medical retention review (MRR) submission based on BUMED's recommended timeline. Per MILPERSMAN 1910-158, members who have not complied with the update requirement will be subject to administrative separation processing from the Navy Reserve. A member assigned "not physically qualified with retention recommended" has substantive restrictions placed on active duty eligibility. A member assigned "not physically qualified with retention recommended" may complete required annual training and is eligible for active duty orders with waiver (as required). A waiver is required for any active duty period greater than 30 days or duty outside the continental United States (OCONUS). Navy Reserve activity medical department representatives are responsible for forwarding active duty waiver requests per reference (c).

c. Not Physically Qualified with Retention Not Recommended - Assigned to a member who is not physically qualified for assignment to all duties consistent with grade, designator, or rating, and is not recommended for retention in the Navy Reserve. NAVPERSCOM (PERS-95) will notify the member's command of the disqualification. The command will notify the member of the finding of physical disqualification by using the letter format contained in MILPERSMAN 1910-168. NAVPERSCOM (PERS-95) will direct involuntary discharge or retirement for eligible members who fail to elect one of the options contained within the physical disqualification notification letter.

3. Assignment in an MRR status. Per references (a) and (c), members in an MRR status will be assigned per current Reserve force assignment policy.
