1 Small ACT Toolkit FY-22

For local engagement during 2021 Navy Suicide Prevention Month and FY-22

Released by Navy Suicide Prevention Program, OPNAV N170B
CONTENTS

Foreword ........................................................................................................................................... 1
Background .......................................................................................................................................... 2
Toolkit Purpose .................................................................................................................................... 2
Outreach, Engagement, and Events Ideas ............................................................................................ 4
Sailor Assistance and Intercept for Life (SAIL) Program .................................................................... 9
Lethal Means Safety ........................................................................................................................... 10
Sample Content ....................................................................................................................................
  Plan of the Day/Week Notes ........................................................................................................... 12
  Social Media Messages and Graphics ................................................................................................. 15
  Stress Navigation Plan ....................................................................................................................... 17
Caring Connections: 'Care' in Action .................................................................................................... 19
Conversation Starters .......................................................................................................................... 20
Project 1 Small ACT Mental Health Motion Graphic Video .................................................................. 22
Spread the Truth: Suicide Prevention Facts and Key Messages ........................................................... 23
Best Practices for Safe Suicide Prevention Messaging ........................................................................ 26
Additional Posters, Graphics, and Resources ...................................................................................... 27
  30 Days of Small ACTs Calendar ......................................................................................................... 29
Suicide Prevention Month and other annual suicide prevention and mental health observances are not timebound—they are not intended to prevent suicide or boost resilience on a singular day, week, or month. Rather, annual suicide prevention and mental health observances are meant to facilitate consistent dialogue and generate behavior change through continuing education, sharing resources, and empowering self-efficacy in individuals, communities, and fleets.

Taking a public health approach to suicide prevention is a researched- and evidence-based approach that takes a socio-ecological view of prevention—understanding that isolated actions are less likely to produce meaningful outcomes than more holistic, sustainable approaches. A public health approach to suicide prevention means taking the population that you are serving, understanding that portions of the population have unique and/or acute needs, and working to tailoring the prevention work to meet those specific needs.

Recognizing Suicide Prevention Month each year reinforces the Navy’s public health and “all hands, all of the time” approach by using September as a month-long launch for tailored engagement at the deckplate throughout the upcoming fiscal year. This approach advances our efforts beyond a typical awareness campaign blitz to sustainable initiatives that motivate positive action and behavior on an ongoing basis.

Fiscal Year 2022 (FY-22) efforts will align with the Navy’s Culture of Excellence (COE) approach by highlighting the importance of connectedness in supporting every Sailor, every day and integrating Defense Suicide Prevention Office’s (DSPO) call-to-action, “Connect to Protect.” Connectedness is a key protective factor against suicide. Although risk factors associated with suicide-related behaviors (SRBs) do not cause or predict suicide, several relate to social connection:

- Lack of social support and sense of isolation;
- Loss of relationship or significant personal loss; and
- Feeling like a burden to others, helplessness.

On 9 April 2021, the National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH) published a Director’s Message highlighting what data are currently showing related to the pandemic’s impacts on the nation’s mental health. Key emphasis points include:

- Several studies, including those collected by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), have shown increases in self-reported behavioral health symptoms
- One CDC report, which surveyed U.S. adults in late June 2020, found 31% of respondents reported symptoms of anxiety or depression, 26% reported stress-related symptoms, 13% reported having started or increased substance use, and 11% reported serious thoughts of suicide in the past 30 days. Notably, these numbers are double the expected pre-pandemic numbers
- Risk factors for reporting anxiety symptoms or suicidal ideation included food insufficiency, financial concerns, and loneliness
- The mental health impacts of COVID-19 continue and will outlive the pandemic itself. It is therefore critical to work together to apply evidence-based strategies and support
At the heart of FY-22 efforts is the acknowledgement of the importance of connection in suicide prevention, resilience, and overall mental and emotional wellness. Positive social relationships and supportive community connections can help buffer the effects of these risk factors in people’s lives. As we continue to navigate the physical and psychological health wellness effects of a global pandemic, the Navy recognizes the need to promote adaptive, virtual communication strategies that help foster a sense of connection and support among Sailors. Messages used during 2021 Suicide Prevention Month and throughout FY-22 serve as a call-to-action to change the way the Navy and its communities connect, discuss, perceive, and react to psychological health concerns and help-seeking behaviors.

BACKGROUND

In 2012, the Departments of Defense and Veterans Affairs, through DSPO and Veterans Affairs Mental Health Services, expanded the weekly recognition of National Suicide Prevention Week to the entire month of September. Navy launched its first Suicide Prevention Month (SP Month) in September 2012. Since then, the Navy has made every September its launchpad for that fiscal year’s suicide prevention efforts. To be clear, Suicide Prevention Month is not designed to prevent suicide on a single day, week, or month. Rather, efforts aim to educate audiences and motivate behavior change through the application of tools that can enable prevention at the individual, community, and fleet levels throughout the fiscal year.

Navy Suicide Prevention Program’s award-winning Project 1 Small ACT campaign leads the charge for Navy’s Suicide Prevention Month efforts and continued engagement throughout the year. Project 1 Small ACT aims to reshape the conversation about stress and suicide in the Navy community by promoting proactive engagement and open dialogue and empowering behavior change by engaging Sailors, civilians and family members with practical ways to navigate stress, build resilience, recognize risk and warning signs, and keep each other safe.

TOOLKIT PURPOSE

This toolkit is designed for suicide prevention coordinators (SPCs), suicide prevention program managers (SPPMs), health promotion coordinators, leaders, providers and anyone who wants to support Navy’s suicide prevention efforts. It contains graphics, talking points, event ideas and other materials to refresh local engagement beginning in September 2021 and continuing throughout FY-22, in alignment with the campaign’s focus areas. By using the resources and products in this toolkit and on the program’s website, you will help your shipmates and community members:

- Promote safe discussion of psychological health and suicide;
Recognize early warning signs of psychological health concerns in themselves and others, and understand how to seek help and intervene

- Identify resources for treatment and support, and feel comfortable seeking those resources without fear of judgment or impact to their career or security clearance eligibility
- Become familiar with lethal means safety precautions during periods of increased risk or stress;
- Become familiar with Navy’s resources, policies and training supporting stress navigation and suicide prevention;
- Practice simple ways to strengthen their physical, psychological and emotional health and wellbeing; and
- Make a difference in the lives of every Sailor, every day.
OUTREACH, ENGAGEMENT, AND EVENT IDEAS

Efforts to engage and educate your shipmates about stress navigation and suicide prevention can help promote a culture supportive of psychological health, emotional wellness, protective factors, connectedness, and seeking help. The ideas below can be implemented locally during September or any time of year to educate and engage your community on suicide prevention and the importance of being there for every Sailor, every day. SPCs are responsible for working with their command resilience teams (CRT) to ensure that command engagement is ongoing and fully integrated into other wellness efforts, using September as an opportunity to reenergize the conversation and set the tone for the upcoming year. Send us any photos or other media and a description of suicide prevention efforts to be featured and shouted out on social media by: tagging us in your Facebook or Twitter content; using the hashtag “#1SmallACT” on Instagram, Facebook, or Twitter; or emailing us at suicideprevention@navy.mil.

- Spread the Word and share the 30 Days of Small ACTs Calendar by printing and posting the 2021 30 Days of Small ACTs Calendar (pg. 29) in high traffic areas. Physically distancing due to COVID-19? Email the calendar to your shipmates or share each Small ACT with your social media networks. Encourage friends, peers, and family members to share the Small ACTs with theirs. Social media images for each Small ACT are available on the Project 1 Small ACT Flickr page as well as the campaign’s Facebook and Twitter pages. Each Small ACT has optimized graphics for Twitter, Facebook, and Instagram. The printable calendar and corresponding social media graphics include ways to remain connected with others, practice lethal means safety, practice self-care, invest in personal wellbeing, reach out to shipmates, and more. For some friendly competition, form small teams and challenge your shipmates to complete as many of the Small ACTs as they can during the month. Encourage team members to individually track completed Small ACTs in a digital note or journal to help them reflect on their impact. You can also work with your base or ship social media account operators to share each day’s Small ACT from the campaign’s Facebook and Twitter accounts to promote participation among family and other Navy community members.

- Share Stories of Connection, Hope and Recovery to demonstrate that help works, life counts, and connectedness plays a critical role in protecting against suicide. Visit the Real Warriors Campaign webpage on Health.mil and www.maketheconnection.net for testimonials from active duty service members, veterans, and family members who have recovered from psychological health concerns and are living full, productive, and meaningful lives. Use the best practices provided in this toolkit to foster a positive narrative when speaking about suicide and psychological health concerns. Possible stories to share include:

- Start the Conversation: https://www.health.mil/News/Gallery/Videos/2021/06/18/Start-the-Conversation
- Stay Safe and Connected: https://maketheconnection.net/whats-new/stay-safe-and-connected
- Small Steps Lead to Big Strides: https://maketheconnection.net/whats-new/small-steps-lead-to-big-strides
- Taking the First Step to Improve Relationships: https://youtu.be/jOGx3-ZWjHM
- Being Vulnerable Allowed Me to Get Help: https://maketheconnection.net/stories/831
- It Can’t Hurt to Talk to Somebody: https://maketheconnection.net/stories/798
- Counseling Provided Tools to Cope with Challenges: https://maketheconnection.net/stories/686

- Invest in Peer-to-Peer Conversations by hosting small group discussions, or take it virtual with a social media livestream, about topics like mentorship, starting open conversations about mental health, recognizing personal stressors, fostering healthy coping skills, rebounding after setbacks, and reaching out to support networks. In conversations, highlight the importance of treating each other with respect and listening to what everyone has to say. For some, it might be the first time discussing psychological health in a group and it might be a little awkward for them initially. As an icebreaker, direct participants to the mental health conversation starter “Recipe Cards” which outline supportive ways to start conversations with

---

Starting a conversation about mental health can feel hard. Check out our conversation starter “Recipe Cards” resource to help facilitate conversations about mental health. Links to all three “Recipe Cards” are embedded in the thumbnails located on pgs. 20-21.
others about mental health. The Recipe Cards are available for download on our Flickr account and are also included on pgs. 20-21 of the toolkit.

- Host a “Week of Connection” Event once per month or quarter. Challenge Sailors to actively connect and check in with at least three people every day, including themselves. Throughout the week, encourage Sailors to develop SMART (Specific, Measurable, Attainable, Relevant, and Time-Bound) holistic wellness goals or to make a daily self-care ritual, commitment, or pledge. During the Week of Connection, consider hosting a “brown bag” or informal meeting around a shared work interest, skill, or topic to help foster command connectedness. Kick off or wrap up the Week of Connection by asking participants to fill out and share a Caring Connections graphic—either physically or on their personal social media feeds. Caring Connections graphics are available for download on our Flickr account.

- Highlight Available Resources like the ‘Sailor on the Street’ video PSAs, the new ‘What Three Words Can Do’ video PSA, the updated Stress Navigation plan, campaign posters, factsheets, and digital graphics. Many of these products, like the Stress Navigation Plan (located on pgs. 17-18) or the PSAs, can be used as conversation starters and discussion guides. Optimized Stress Navigation Plan digital graphics can be found on our Flickr page. The PSAs are located on the Project 1 Small ACT YouTube channel and website. Give participants Project 1 Small ACT materials, such as the Stress Continuum Thermometer Magnet (NAVPERS 600034), the Life Counts Magnet (NAVPERS 60008A), and Business Card (NAVPERS 60009A). Procedures and the form to order these and other campaign items available free of charge from the Naval Logistics Library are available here.

- Send Messages of Hope by sharing or tagging shipmates in Caring Connections graphics on social media. When you notice when a fellow shipmate, friend, or loved one isn’t acting like themselves, it may be hard to know what you can do to respond. Sometimes, 1 Small ACT is all it takes to boost someone’s mood. Whether you send a quick text or a DM on social media, offering simple words of support and concern can have a positive impact on a person’s psychological health. More information about Caring Connections is on pg. 19.

- Conduct a Weekend Send-Off. Work with base security and recruit a group of Sailors to hold Project 1 Small ACT posters or signs with messages of hope, outreach and/or crisis resources, risk factors and warning signs, means safety tips, stress navigation tips, motivational messaging, contact information for local or national crisis resources such as the Military Crisis Line, SAMHSA’s Helpline, the Crisis Text Line, etc. at exit gates on an afternoon during peak outgoing traffic times (1430-1600). Reach out to your local drug and alcohol program advisor (DAPA) to potentially coordinate with responsible drinking send-offs to promote a range of healthy behaviors (alcohol misuse is a risk factor for suicide).

- Connect to Protect by organizing group activities like a group workout (physically distanced as necessary!), planning and making a meal together (even if it’s virtually!), coordinating a movie night (virtually as needed!), creating a collaborative music playlist, putting together a book club, photography club, painting/art club, or other hobby-based club that foster social connection and support to help illustrate ways to navigate stress, strengthen mental health, and reinforce peer connection and support networks. Ideas include:

- A high-intensity interval training (HIIT) style workout using one of the Navy Operational Fitness and Fueling Systems (NOFFS) in this Project 1 Small ACT blog post.
- A 5K fun run with campaign resources displayed at the starting line/finish line and water stations along the route, including messages of hope, educational materials and contact information for support services. Display the Project 1 Small ACT campaign’s lethal means safety posters (links on pg. 27).
- A yoga class with a “Small ACT Selfie” station where participants can write and share how they practice self-care in their daily lives. Signs are available for download and print here. After personalizing their sign, encourage participants to snap a selfie or group photo and share on social media, tagging Project 1 Small ACT social media channels (@Proj1SmallACT for Twitter, and @project1smallact for Facebook), or using the hashtag #1SmallACT for Instagram. Participants can also send their selfies to suicideprevention@navy.mil with their names and event information for inclusion on the Project 1 Small ACT’s social media pages. Following the event, collect the signs and post them throughout high-traffic areas as reminders of the simple ways we can support others and our own psychological health.
- A digital book or podcast club that “meets” at regular intervals throughout the year. Pick a theme for your club and some initial authors, audio series or genres in which the group has shared interest. Start each meeting with a quick mental health check-in, share, or highlight an outreach resource and have a prepared list of discussion questions about the book or podcast before every meeting. Consider creating a social media space for the club where you can invite new members to join, stay connected between meetings, post meeting schedules, and share new or additional reading or listening suggestions.

- Spread the Truth and Share the Facts by working with your command’s social media POC and/or installation public affairs office to share educational content and any suicide prevention command events on the command’s official pages with the #1SmallACT hashtag. You can offer the sample social media included in this toolkit (pgs. 15-16). Corresponding digital graphics that can be included with the social media messages are located on our Flickr account. Share the content with your social media networks as well and encourage shipmates, friends, and family members to do the same.

- Connect with the Local Community by hosting a command-sponsored community service event. Helping others is a great way to build relationships and instill meaning, both key Principles of Resilience, as well as find a renewed sense of purpose and contribution. Moreover, community relations (COMREL) are ways to Be There for others in the community, can help Sailors thrive during periods of transition, and strengthen belonging—both to the community and within the command.
SAILOR ASSISTANCE AND INTERCEPT FOR LIFE (SAIL) PROGRAM

The SAIL program is an outreach effort that provides rapid assistance, ongoing clinical case management, care coordination and reintegration assistance for Sailors identified during the 90 days after a suicide-related behavior (SRB), the period of highest risk. SAIL is designed to supplement, not replace, mental health treatment. SAIL Case Managers are Fleet and Family Support Center (FFSC) counselors who initiate and provide a series of caring contacts with Sailors at 3, 7, 14, 30, 60 and 90 days following an SRB. SAIL Case Managers also maintain a collaborative relationship with health care providers and command leadership.

SAIL boosts the resources available to Sailors and provides additional support to commands to help reintegrate Sailors after an SRB. Many Sailors prefer a caring contact from outside the command and appreciate the support from a voice outside the “skin of the ship.” A local SAIL Case Manager will contact the Sailor and educate them on the program and SAIL services. Once that contact is made, the Sailor can decide whether to participate in the program.

SAIL is not treatment. Rather, SAIL is a support network to assist the Sailor in navigating support services throughout their recovery process. Suicide prevention requires ongoing efforts to promote health and a sense of community.

Per NAVADMIN 021/21, the Navy adjusted procedures for the SAIL program—now requiring Commanding officers to take a more proactive approach to ensure Sailors at risk for suicide establish communication with SAIL Program case managers. Effective 1 March 2021, SAIL procedures require Commanding Officers to instruct and verify that the Sailors who have experienced an SRB have contacted the SAIL case manager at the nearest Fleet and Family Support Center to ensure that no Sailor falls through the cracks. This minor change in policy strengthens communication between Sailors and SAIL case managers by involving both in the initial contact process. After the Sailor is contacted, participation in the SAIL programs remains voluntary, but leaders are encouraged to take an active role in seeing that Sailors get the help and resources they need.

During Suicide Prevention Month, SPCs should invite the local SAIL Case Manager to the command to connect with the CO. If there is an opportunity such as an All Hands Call or GMT (as permitted by pandemic safety constraints), invite the SAIL Case Manager to talk about the SAIL Program and answer any questions the CO may have.
LETHAL MEANS SAFETY

Lethal means safety means ensuring that highly-lethal methods of suicide (including firearms, some prescription medications, and structural hazards) are out of reach during times of increased stress. Lethal means safety has proven effective at preventing suicide. Lethal means safety starts with routine safe storage, disposal, and safe storage conversations being integrated into regular conversation and safety briefings. When discussing lethal means safety, emphasize that lethal means safety is not about discouraging firearm use or gun rights, it is about saving lives and encouraging firearm safety at all times, not just during times of crisis. Knowing and understanding the facts are critical to lethal means safety.

OPNAV 1720.4B states that commanders and health professionals may ask Sailors who are reasonably believed to be at risk for suicide or causing harm to others to voluntarily allow their privately-owned firearms to be stored for temporary safekeeping by the command.

Check with your command SPC about the availability of gun locks—a new shipment of gun locks began shipping to Fleet and Family Support Centers (FFSCs) and Navy Operational Support Centers (NOSCs) in August 2021. Additionally, Sailors should proactively dispose of their unused prescriptions via drop boxes at military treatment facilities or via at-home disposal kits.

To access additional, educational information on lethal means safety:

- View the VA Firearm Brochure
- Log on to www.suicide.navy.mil for guidance on ordering lethal means safety posters through the Navy Logistics Library to hang throughout the command
- Download the Navy Suicide Prevention Handbook at https://go.usa.gov/xFTU4 to become familiar with lethal means safety precautions during periods of increased risk or stress
- Check out the Project 1 Small ACT campaign on Facebook, Twitter, its WordPress blog, Flickr, and YouTube
- Check out the DSPO website at www.dspo.mil for their Small Steps Save Lives brochure, their Stop, Lock & Live video PSA, and their Simple Things Save Lives video PSA.

Know the Facts About Lethal Means Safety

Firearms are the most common method of suicide among Navy personnel. Almost 60 percent of all suicides in 2019 were by firearm. Firearms were also the primary method of suicide death for family members in 2020.

- Owning a firearm does not cause someone to be suicidal; however, storing a loaded firearm at home increases risk for dying by suicide four to six times.
- A limited supply of gun locks will be available for distribution at CONUS Fleet and Family Support Centers (FFSCs) and Navy Operational Support Centers (NOSCs) beginning August 2021.
- Gun locks are effective in reducing the likelihood of a suicide attempt by placing distance and time between the person and their firearm. This can interrupt the immediate impulse and provide opportunity for intervention and care.
Gun Locks Distribution FAQs

Who can I ask about gun locks? Where can I obtain one?
Sailors should check with their Suicide Prevention Program Managers (SPPMs), Suicide Prevention Coordinators (SPCs), and local FFSCs to get more information about how, when, and where to get gun locks.

How can leaders get involved?
Leaders should invite Sailors who are reasonably believed to be at risk for suicide to voluntarily store their firearms in the base armory until the crisis passes. This is another life-saving intervention resource that is an essential part of lethal means safety. For more information about the Navy’s voluntary storage policy, see OPNAV 1720.4B.

As the SPC, can I order gun locks for my command? Does Navy have an inventory of gun locks?
Not at this time. Currently, Navy does not have an inventory of gun locks. Gun locks are being supplied by the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). OPNAV will provide gun lock updates via your SPPMs.

How should the gun locks be distributed?
Gun locks should be distributed on a first-come-first-serve basis. Sailors who own firearms should be provided a gun lock and educated on the importance of family safety, safe storage, and also reducing access to lethal means during periods of increased stress. Lethal means safety starts with routine safe storage, disposal, and safe storage conversations. Gun lock use is not about discouraging firearm use or gun rights, it is about saving lives and encouraging firearm safety at all times, not just during times of crisis. This resource is also available to family members. If you have questions, seek out your medical department representative or local Sailor Assistance and Intercept for Life (SAIL) case managers who are trained in assessing suicide risk level.
SAMPLE CONTENT

Plan of the Day/Week Notes

The below plan of the week notes can be used during Suicide Prevention Month and throughout the year.

- Our ability to connect with others—especially during times of change—is paramount in helping us navigate new territory, navigate stress, and consider helpful perspectives outside of our own. Healthy relationships built on trust and transparency boost our psychological health by aiding in our personal growth and providing us with a sense of community. With this in mind, it’s important to remember the value of positive and strong social connections. Social connections aren’t just those we have with friends and family—they extend to our professional lives in the form of peers, leaders, and mentors. Learn more about the role connection plays in our lives at https://navstress.wordpress.com/2020/11/12/creating-an-inclusive-culture-for-better-mental-health/

- We’re all searching for meaning in life—whether it’s through our relationships, our careers, our goals, or even within our day-to-day routines. You may ask yourself the “why” behind certain experiences or outcomes, and question how they all fit together in a “bigger picture” way. Meaning is often discussed in tandem with finding a sense of purpose, and a sense of purpose can be thought of as the things that energize you and connect you to your core values. Finding and maintaining a sense of purpose of meaning in life is a key protective factor against suicide. Learn more at https://navstress.wordpress.com/2021/03/04/refreshing-your-sense-of-purpose/

- Although some are planned in advance, the majority of suicides and attempts are impulsive reactions to stress, and many suicide attempts are made during a short-term crisis period. Storing lethal means properly can interrupt the impulse and give someone in crisis enough time to reconsider a suicide attempt. Practicing lethal means safety is one way you can support yourself and others in reducing suicide risk. Take a moment to understand how to reduce access to lethal means at https://navstress.wordpress.com/2021/01/08/three-actions-to-practice-lethal-means-safety/

- The COVID-19 pandemic may be stressful for people. Fear and anxiety about a new disease and what could happen can be overwhelming and cause strong emotions. Public health actions, such as physical distancing, can make people feel isolated and lonely and can increase stress and anxiety. Coping with stress in a healthy way will make you, the people you care about and your community stronger. Learn more at https://www.dspo.mil/Portals/113/Documents/COVID%2019%20Info%20Paper%20for%20Military%20Community.pdf?ver=2020-04-28-151037-573

- Sometimes it can feel like stress is coming from all directions at once—from juggling work responsibilities, to navigating family life, to keeping up with friends, to running errands and paying bills, there’s often a lot to get done or decisions to make. Even though you can’t often control what life throws at you, you do have the power to manage how you respond and react to daily stressors. Controllability, one of the key Principles of Resilience, is about making choices that restore a sense of empowerment during adversity. Controllability is about recognizing emotions as they come, identifying problem-solving actions and feeling confident in ways you can cope and practice self-care. Discovering ways to respond to stress that work for you might take practice, but it will help prevent the normal, daily stress from escalating to distress. Learn more at https://navstress.wordpress.com/2021/04/08/how-to-respond-to-stress-in-a-healthy-way/

- Addressing psychological and behavioral health needs is essential to maintaining personal and mission readiness, and your ability to be there for others. However, concerns about career implications may lead to apprehension about seeking help. The truth is there are DoD-level policy protections in place to help prevent negative career impacts for those who seek proactive help. In fact, less than 1% of security clearance denials or revocations involve psychological health concerns or behavioral health support. Seeking help is a sign of strength. Further, it’s an indicator of the good judgment and reliability needed to maintain a security clearance. Learn more about mental health and security clearances from the Defense Counterintelligence and Security Agency: https://www.dcsa.mil/Portals/91/Documents/pv/DODCAF/resources/DCSA-FactSheet_Mental-Health.pdf

- Alcohol misuse has consistently been associated with suicidal behavior, according to the National Institutes of Health. Consuming alcohol can lower inhibitions, increase impulsiveness and impair judgment. Alcohol misuse can also lead to social withdrawal, and all these attributes can lead to greater suicide risk. Seeking help early is a sign of strength. The Navy’s non-disciplinary self-referral process allows Sailors to seek help and remain an active duty Sailor. The intent of a self-referral is to provide Sailors with a means of intervening in the progression of alcohol misuse early enough to get help before a problem becomes more advanced and difficult to resolve without disciplinary action. Learn more and get answers to some frequently asked questions at https://navstress.wordpress.com/2019/04/17/self-referral-seeking-help-early-is-a-sign-of-strength/

- Suicide Prevention Month is an opportunity to reenergize the conversation about suicide prevention and set a positive tone about being there for yourself and others throughout the year. Connection plays a critical role in preventing suicide, building resilience, and maintaining overall psychological and emotional wellness. Positive social relationships and supportive community connections can help buffer the effects of risk factors in people’s lives. Use this month to find everyday ways to connect with others—and ways to carry that forward into the coming months. Bringing a shipmate a cup of coffee, sharing a meal together, asking how someone is doing, or lending a listening ear may seem small, but these small ACTs can have a big impact when someone is feeling disconnected. 1 Small ACT can make a difference and save a life. For more ways to be there for every Sailor, every day, visit www.facebook.com/Project1SmallACT or www.twitter.com/Proj1SmallACT

- The qualities that shape great leaders are often qualities many of us try to emulate—whether it’s balancing assertiveness with respect, mentoring with confidence, or fostering a supportive environment, we all know some of the key components that go into building and maintaining resilient teams. Even if you are not in a formal leadership role, there may still be individuals looking to you for guidance to help inform their decisions. Role modeling positive behaviors for your peers, family members, and friends not only helps fuel your personal growth, but can also impact those around you for the better.
Did You Know? Suicide risk is highest in the 90 days following a suicide attempt or other suicide-related behavior (SRB). Access to care is critical, but in some locations can be difficult due to manning and other factors. The Sailor Assistance and Intercept for Life (SAIL) program prevents care from falling through the cracks. SAIL is that continuous caring contact during the first 90 days after an SRB to ensure the Sailor has ongoing resources and support. SAIL is not therapy and does not replace therapy or the care the Sailor may receive from medical and chaplains. It is risk assessment, safety planning and all the additional resources that FFSC offers to support our Sailors. Learn more about how the recent updates to the SAIL program strengthens communications at https://navstress.wordpress.com/2021/03/18/sail-program-changes-strengthen-communications/
Social Media Messages and Graphics

Use the following social media messages on personal or command/organization-operated social media accounts. For additional messaging throughout FY-22, like us on Facebook and Twitter to share directly from our pages. Additional graphics are available on Flickr.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Platform</th>
<th>Message</th>
<th>Graphic (Click to Download)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td><img src="facebook-icon.png" alt="Facebook" /> <img src="twitter-icon.png" alt="Twitter" /></td>
<td>Did You Know: Feeling connected to others can help reduce the isolation of suicidal thoughts, which often stem from a desire to stop intense pain rather than a desire to die.</td>
<td><img src="in-case-you-need-to-hear-this-you-matter.png" alt="In Case You Need to Hear This... You Matter" /></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td><img src="facebook-icon.png" alt="Facebook" /> <img src="twitter-icon.png" alt="Twitter" /></td>
<td>#SuicidePrevention is: Working hand-in-hand to help those at risk. Know the warning signs. Practice asking the hard questions, like &quot;are you thinking of killing yourself?&quot; Reach out. Offer support. Follow up. Together we can #BeThere for #EverySailorEveryDay</td>
<td><img src="be-the-to.png" alt="Be The To" /></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td><img src="facebook-icon.png" alt="Facebook" /> <img src="twitter-icon.png" alt="Twitter" /></td>
<td>Self-care is an essential part of our wellness that deserves the same attention as any other important aspect of our lives. One way to make sure our self-care doesn’t fall by the wayside? Build a self-care plan: http://bit.ly/SelfCarePlans #selfcareisntselfish</td>
<td><img src="self-care-is-essential.png" alt="Self-Care Is Essential" /></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td><img src="facebook-icon.png" alt="Facebook" /> <img src="twitter-icon.png" alt="Twitter" /></td>
<td>Regularly sharing caring words and messages helps individuals feel more connected. Whether it’s a shipmate, coworker, friend, family member of someone else important to you, expressing to others that you care about them goes a long way. Caring is at the heart of connectedness. #connecttoprotect</td>
<td><img src="why-i-care-about-you.png" alt="Why I Care About You" /></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td><img src="facebook-icon.png" alt="Facebook" /> <img src="twitter-icon.png" alt="Twitter" /></td>
<td>Less than 1% of security clearances are revoked or denied for mental health reasons. Be proud of yourself for seeking help and be candid during a clearance process.</td>
<td><img src="know-the-facts.png" alt="Know The Facts" /></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td><img src="facebook-icon.png" alt="Facebook" /> <img src="twitter-icon.png" alt="Twitter" /></td>
<td>You know your shipmates best. If you notice even a small change in their behavior, trust your gut. Reach out, ask how they are doing and actively listen to their response. Offer hope and support and connect them with people &amp; resources that can help, like the Military Crisis Line. Call 24/7: 1-800-273-8255, press 1, text 838255 or chat https://www.veteranscrisisline.net/get-help/military-crisis-line</td>
<td><img src="if-you-are-in-crisis.png" alt="If You Are in Crisis" /></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td><img src="facebook-icon.png" alt="Facebook" /> <img src="twitter-icon.png" alt="Twitter" /></td>
<td>Knowing that a friend, shipmate or loved one is struggling with their mental health can be scary and confusing. You may feel powerless, but you can make a difference by listening, being prepared, and knowing when to ACT. #ISPATHWARM</td>
<td><img src="is-pathwarm.png" alt="Is PATHWARM" /></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
ACT (Ask. Care. Treat.) when you notice a change – no matter how small it may seem. #trustyourgut #1SmallACT

The real factors that heavily influence clearance status are whether an individual is trustworthy, dependable, reliable and shows good judgment. Seeking help when you face a problem—including a mental health problem—actually demonstrates trustworthiness, dependability, reliability and good judgment—the very factors being vetted for a security clearance. #KnowTheFacts #ShareTheFacts #1SmallACT

Although some are planned in advance, the majority of suicides and attempts are impulsive reactions to stress. Limiting access to lethal methods can be life-saving. #1SmallACT

Did You Know? Suicide risk is highest in the 90 days following a suicide attempt or other suicide-related behavior.

Annually, an average of 35% of Sailors who died by suicide had previous mental health care but for various reasons declined to continue those services or didn’t return to care when problems resurfaced. SAIL prevents care from falling through the cracks and is that critical caring contact during the first 90 days after an SRB to ensure the Sailor has ongoing resources and support.
STRESS NAVIGATION PLAN

Effective stress navigation doesn’t start once stress becomes a distraction, it starts by planning ahead and exploring available resources proactively. This Stress Navigation Plan is a personal list of positive strategies and support resources that you can turn to during times of increased stress and adversity. It can also be used as a “conversation starter” when a shipmate is encountering difficulty and may benefit from resources to enable healthy decision-making.

USE THIS PLAN DURING TIMES OF:
- Transition and changes
- Work or career stress
- Relationship issues
- Financial stress
- Feelings of despair/loneliness
- Grief or loss

CONSIDER THESE STRATEGIES OR ACTIONS WHEN YOU’RE FEELING STRESSED:
- Exercise
- Get outside
- Call a friend
- Watch a favorite movie
- Read a book
- Listen to music

SIGNS TO HELP RECOGNIZE WHEN YOU’RE STRESSED:

- PHYSICAL SIGNS change in energy level, muscle tension, etc.
- EMOTIONAL SIGNS negative thoughts, feeling overwhelmed, easily agitated, etc.
- SOCIAL OR BEHAVIORAL SIGNS spending less time with friends/family, increased use of alcohol or tobacco, etc.

ASK YOURSELF:

WHAT ARE YOU GRATEFUL FOR TODAY?
WHAT IS ONE THING YOU LOOK FORWARD TO ACCOMPLISHING IN THE FUTURE?
SEVERE OR PROLONGED EXPOSURE TO STRESS MAY LEAD TO STRESS INJURY. WHILE MOST STRESS INJURIES HEAL OVER TIME, IF LEFT UNTREATED THEY MAY PROGRESS INTO MORE SERIOUS PHYSICAL AND PSYCHOLOGICAL HEALTH IMPACTS.

IS PATH WARM? KNOW THE WARNING SIGNS

I - ideation: Thoughts of suicide (expressed, threatened, written)
S - substance abuse: Increased or excessive alcohol or drug use
P - purposelessness: Seeing no reason for living or meaning in life
A - anxiety: Anxiousness, agitation, nightmares or inability to sleep
T - trapped: Feeling as though there is no way out of current situation
H - hopelessness: Feeling hopeless about oneself, others or the future
W - withdrawal: Isolating from friends, family, usual activities, society
A - anger: Feelings of rage or uncontrolled anger, seeking revenge
R - recklessness: Acting without regard for consequences
M - mood change: dramatic changes in mood, unstable mood

CONFIDENTIAL, 24/7 SUPPORT FOR STRESS:

MILITARY ONESOURCE: call 1-800-342-9647
visit www.militaryonesource.mil

REAL WARRIORS LIVE CHAT: call 866-966-1020 visit www.realwarriors.net/livechat

GIVE AN HOUR: visit https://giveanhour.org/get-help/

CRISIS TEXT LINE: text 741741

TO PROMOTE RECOVERY
IT'S OKAY TO SPEAK UP WHEN YOU'RE DOWN

SEEK GUIDANCE from a medical professional, support resource, counselor, or a Navy chaplain.

COMMUNICATE with a trusted shipmate or leader to harness support and promote safety.

PRACTICE the strategies you identified above.

IF YOU ARE IN CRISIS AND NEED IMMEDIATE HELP:

CALL Military Crisis Line for 24/7 confidential support at 1-800-273-TALK (8255) and Press 1
TEXT 838255
VISIT www.militarycrisisline.net for chat support.
CARING CONNECTIONS: ‘CARE’ IN ACTION

Protective factors against suicide include sense of community and belonging, strong connections with family and friends, sense of purpose and personal fulfillment and contribution or responsibility to others. Whether you send a quick text or a message on social media to a friend on deployment or send a handwritten letter to a family member that lives in a different state, offering simple words of support and concern can have a positive impact on a loved one’s psychological health.

While you may notice when a fellow shipmate or loved one isn’t acting like themselves, it may be hard to know what you can do to respond. Sometimes, all it may take to bolster someone’s outlook is a simple gesture. For those potentially at-risk for suicide or suicide-related behavior, several studies have shown that regularly sharing caring words and messages can help individuals feel more connected.

Connectedness and trust are key protective factors against suicide. Although risk factors associated with suicide related behaviors (SRBs) do not cause or predict suicide, several relate to social connection: 1) Lack of social support and sense of isolation; 2) Loss of relationship or significant personal loss; and 3) Feeling like a burden to others, helplessness. At the heart of the Caring Connections graphics is the acknowledgement of the importance of connection in suicide prevention, resilience and overall wellness. Positive social relationships and supportive community connections can help buffer the effects of these risk factors in people's lives.

Postcard-style templates for use on social and digital media channels are available for download on our Flickr page. Thumbnails are linked below. Some templates have been formatted as Facebook posts, while others are vertical for easy screenshot and mobile device shareability. Encourage your shipmates to fill in the postcards on their mobile devices and share them with a friend or loved one as a way to check in.
CONVERSATION STARTERS

Save and share these ‘recipe cards’ (linked) that provide a how-to for starting conversations around mental health.

RECIPE FOR A SUCCESSFUL MENTAL HEALTH CONVO

LEVEL: Medium to Hard

TIME: 20-30 minutes

SERVES: Everyone

MENTAL PREP
Go into the conversation prepared with a list of available resources they could use in case it becomes clear they need additional support. You are being a great person by starting this conversation—but you’re not a mental health professional. If the person you care about has told you they’re thinking of self-harm or suicide, it’s a warning sign that they should speak with a mental health professional.

INGREDIENTS
- The easiest way to let people know you’re willing to talk about mental health is to be open about your own. Try to think of it in the same way you think about your physical health.
- Speak to them privately. Always start with a caring expression, followed by an observation.
- Let them know you get it, and that you understand it’s both okay and normal to have both easier and harder mental health days.

DIRECTIONS
- “Maybe it’s me, but I was wondering if you were ok?”
- “Hey, I’ve noticed you’ve seemed kind of down lately. What’s going on? Is everything ok?”
- “Hey, we haven’t talked in a while and I wanted to reach out. How are you doing?”
- “I’ve noticed recently that you haven’t seemed like yourself lately. How are you?”
- “I was just thinking about the time when [share a fun memory] and wanted to check in.”
- “I know you’re going through some stuff. I just wanted to reach out and let you know that if you ever want to talk, I’m here for you.”
- “This might seem awkward, but I’d like to know how you’re really doing and if you’re really alright.”
- “Hey, you seemed frustrated today. I’m here for you. Want to chat?”
- “I feel like something’s up, and I want to support you. Do you want to talk about what’s going on?”
- “Are you okay? I’m worried about you. You don’t seem like yourself lately.”
- “I just want you to know that I know life can be overwhelming sometimes. So, if you need to talk, I’m here.”
- “Hey, is there anything you want to get off your chest?”
- “Listen, you’re my friend, and I just want to know honestly how you’re feeling.”
- “I care about you, and I just want to be there to support you.”
- “Whatever you are going through, I’ve got your back.”
RECIPE FOR A SUCCESSFUL MENTAL HEALTH CONVO

LEVEL: Medium to Hard

TIME: 20-30 minutes

SERVES: Everyone

INGREDIENTS
- Let people know you’re willing to talk about mental health by being open about your own.
- Speak to them privately. Always start with an expression of care, followed by an observation.
- Let them know you get it, and that you understand it’s both okay and normal to have both easier and harder mental health days.

DIRECTIONS
- “Maybe it’s me, but I was wondering if you were ok?”
- “Hey, I’ve noticed you’ve seemed kind of down lately. What’s going on? Is everything okay?”
- “Hey, we haven’t talked in a while and I wanted to reach out. How are you doing?”
- “I’ve noticed recently that you haven’t seemed like yourself lately. How are you?”
- “I was just thinking about the time when [share a fun memory] and wanted to check in.”
- “This might seem awkward, but I’d like to know how you’re really doing and if you’re really alright.”

---

RECIPE FOR A SUCCESSFUL MENTAL HEALTH CONVO

LEVEL: Medium to Hard

TIME: 20-30 minutes

SERVES: Everyone

INGREDIENTS
- Let people know you’re willing to talk about mental health by being open about your own.
- Speak to them privately. Always start with an expression of care, followed by an observation.
- Let them know you get it, and that you understand it’s both okay and normal to have both easier and harder mental health days.

DIRECTIONS
- “Are you okay? I’m worried about you. You don’t seem like yourself lately.”
- “I just want you to know that I know life can be overwhelming sometimes. So, if you need to talk, I’m here.”
- “Hey, is there anything you want to get off your chest?”
- “Listen, you’re my friend, and I just want to know honestly how you’re feeling.”
- “I care about you, and I just want to be there to support you.”
- “Whatever you are going through, I’ve got your back.”
Launching in September 2021, the Project 1 Small ACT campaign’s newest video PSA, ‘What Three Words Can Do,’ outlines the power that three words can have in opening the door for honest and authentic conversations about mental health. The video addresses how three small words can also open the door for help.

Navy Suicide Prevention focus group findings have consistently found that Sailors want to be there for and have honest conversations about mental health with their shipmates. They express wanting to reach out and help their friends and family if something feels off or if they are worried about their mental health. However, Sailors also express that starting the conversation can feel hard, or that they feel worried about saying the wrong thing.

Key focal points of the video include:
- Encouraging viewers to reflect on the power of reaching out to ask if someone is okay
- Providing some examples of how to start the conversation
- Illustrating how 1 Small ACT can make a difference in someone’s life
- Demonstrating connection and care in action

The video is available for sharing on the Project 1 Small ACT YouTube page, located here: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=TyknYwaOsMs&t=1s. Please share this video, follow Project 1 Small ACT on Facebook (@Project1SmallACT) and Twitter (@Proj1SmallACT), and check out the blog at www.navstress.wordpress.com to let us know how 1 Small ACT makes a difference in your life.

What Can Words Do?

Anyone can, and should, have open, honest, and authentic conversations about mental health. In many instances, the small act of talking about mental health can be the first important step in helping someone feel connected and helping them get support or treatment they need.

Studies show that asking people who are at increased risk for suicide if they are thinking about suicide does not increase suicides or suicidal thoughts. In fact, studies suggest exactly the opposite—that talking about and acknowledging suicide may reduce suicidal ideation.

Check out the following resources for more information about starting conversations about mental health:
- The National Suicide Prevention Lifeline’s #BeThe1To Campaign: https://www.bethe1to.com/bethe1to-steps-evidence/
- The American Foundation for Suicide Prevention’s Real Convo Series: https://afsp.org/realconvo
- The Project 1 Small ACT Campaign’s Mental Health Conversation Starter ‘Recipe Cards’
SPREAD THE TRUTH: SUICIDE PREVENTION FACTS AND KEY MESSAGES

Share the following facts and key messages to reshape the conversation about suicide, encourage seeking help and promote a culture supportive of psychological health. Additional resources to help you convey this information, such as posters and digital graphics, can be found in this toolkit and on www.suicide.navy.mil.

- Protective factors are resources and aspects of our lives that promote healthy stress navigation and good coping skills. They can be personal, external or environmental. Protective factors against suicide include a strong sense of community and belonging, strong connections with family and friends, comprehensive wellness and good health practices, a sense of purpose and fulfillment, access to health care, and good problem solving and coping skills.

- Self-care is an essential component of good health and can be thought of as a set of survival skills. Self-care includes basic activities of daily living (such as eating a balanced diet, grooming, getting adequate sleep, exercising and attending to medical concerns). It also includes activities that can enhance psychological and emotional well-being, such as journaling, meditation, social connection, counseling or therapy.

- Risk factors for suicide are complex but consist of a chain of events leading an individual to feel anguish and hopelessness, with the capacity to be lethal (due in part to impacted judgment and access to means). Risk factors include a disruption in primary relationship, loss of status, feelings of rejection or abandonment, increased substance use or abuse, pending legal/disciplinary actions, transition periods and access to lethal means.

- Annual case reviews consistently reveal that suicide risk is higher when Sailors are experiencing multiple stressors, including transitions, relationship issues and career or personal setbacks. Active communication is important, especially when a Sailor is alone and away from his or her support networks.

- When it comes to warning signs, remember IS PATH WARM: Ideation, Substance abuse, Purposelessness, Anxiety, Trapped, Hopelessness, Withdrawal, Anger, Recklessness, and Mood

---

Did You Know?

According to Navy Suicide Prevention Program’s annual multi-disciplinary case reviews, a majority of Sailors who die by suicide experience a combination of stressors prior to death that have been historically associated with suicides in the Navy. These stressors include:

- Intimate relationship problems
- Loss (death of a friend or loved one, etc.)
- Disrupted social network
- Disciplinary and/or legal issues
- Work problems (performance and conduct, work relationships, etc.)
- Sleep problems
- Financial strain

---

FY-22 1 Small ACT Toolkit
changes. These signs may indicate that a person is at immediate risk of suicide. You don’t have to see every sign to intervene.

- Practicing means safety by ensuring that highly lethal methods of suicide are out of reach during times of increased stress has been proven effective at preventing suicide. Highly lethal methods of suicide include but are not limited to firearms and some prescription medications. For added safety during times of increased stress, store personally owned firearms with a gun lock in a secured safe separate from ammunition. Dispose of unwanted, unused or expired medications by emptying them into a sealable plastic bag with used coffee grounds or another undesirable substance and throwing the bag and empty bottles in the trash. Use a dark marker to cross out your personal information from the label. The Military Health System has also established a year-round prescription drug take back program using safe, convenient and anonymous drop boxes placed at Military Treatment Facilities (MTFs). Check with your local MTF to see if they are participating in this program.

- Per OPNAVINST 1720.4B, Sailors can work with their commanding officers and health professionals to arrange safe storage of their personal firearm during a high-risk period. This applies to all Sailors (both active and reserve) and is in accordance with Section 1057 of the National Defense Authorization Act of Fiscal Year 2013.

- Seeking help to promote personal wellness and recovery may favorably impact a person’s security clearance eligibility. Less than one percent of security clearance denials and revocations involve psychological health concerns. It’s okay to speak up when you’re down.

- Most people who consider suicide do not want to die; they want their pain to stop. Very few people who consider suicide are determined to end their life. Traumatic life events or jolting changes may surpass a person’s ability to cope and cause feelings of hopelessness and burdensomeness. While treatment should be handled by a professional, you can take the first life-saving steps by reaching out, offering hope and seeking help.

- Suicide risk is highest in the 90 days following an attempt or other suicide-related behavior. Access to care is critical. The Sailor Assistance and Intercept for Life (SAIL) program offers a series of caring contacts, risk assessment and reintegration assistance following a suicide-related behavior to promote recovery. Participation is voluntary and does not replace mental health services but is designed to bring together support and tools to reduce risk and promote resilience.

- 1 Small ACT can make a difference and save a life. Be there for Every Sailor, Every Day. All members of the Navy community should lead by example and take proactive steps towards strengthening physical, psychological and emotional wellness daily, recognizing when it’s necessary to seek help.
If you notice anything out of the norm from your shipmate, one conversation—1 Small ACT—can open the door for support by breaking the silence and facilitating early intervention. If you think a shipmate is having trouble navigating stress, ACT (Ask, Care, Treat):

- Ask – Ask directly, “are you thinking of killing yourself?” or “does it ever get so tough that you think about ending your life?”
- Care – Listen without judgment. Show that you care “I’m right here with you,” “nothing you’re going through changes how I feel about you, and how great I think you are” or “I care about you no matter what, and we’re going to get through this together”
- Treat – Get help immediately and don’t leave the Sailor alone. Escort them to the nearest chaplain, trusted leader or medical professional for treatment.
BEST PRACTICES FOR SAFE SUICIDE PREVENTION MESSAGING

The way suicide is discussed in any setting (training, everyday conversation, public messaging, media coverage, etc.) can either motivate positive behavior or contribute to risk. All discussion of suicide should follow guidelines for safe messaging, per the National Strategy for Suicide Prevention.

- Use objective language. Describing a suicide attempt as “successful,” “unsuccessful” or “incomplete” frames suicide death as a desirable state. Attempts are either fatal or non-fatal. Additionally, the term “committed suicide” frames it as a crime, which can increase barriers to seeking help by reinforcing negative attitudes. Use “die by suicide” or “death by suicide” instead.

- Always foster a positive suicide prevention narrative. Inclusion of data and statistics should not undermine the intent to convey a positive and action-oriented message that promotes understanding of suicide risk and protective factors, encourages active dialogue about suicide and psychological health and promotes help-seeking behavior. The vast majority of those who encounter stress, adversity and/or psychological health challenges do not die by suicide.

- Use numbers with discretion. A single life lost to suicide is one too many. Extensive discussion of numbers shifts the focus away from preventive actions that can save lives. Avoid presenting suicide as an “epidemic” or common occurrence among a particular community. This can normalize suicide to those at-risk, discouraging positive action and seeking help. Always include appropriate resources within every discussion of suicide, such as the Military Crisis Line.

- Avoid glamorizing deaths by suicide. Although “peace” may be a desirable state for those who are encountering adversity, stating that a person found peace by taking his or her life glorifies the act. Dying by suicide may sound more attractive to those who are struggling to cope with psychological pain when it seems like an escape. Always separate the person’s positive life accomplishments from his/her final act.

- Avoid presenting suicide as an inevitable event or oversimplifying the cause. Most suicidal people exhibit warning signs, which may be caused or exacerbated by mental illness and/or substance abuse disorders. However, no one should feel as though suicide is the inevitable solution. Discuss risk factors commonly associated with suicide to increase awareness and promote seeking treatment. It’s best to shift the focus away from speculated causes of a single case. Revealing unconfirmed details may lead to generalizations that could normalize the event and hinder postvention efforts.

- Always provide information for assistance. To promote help-seeking behavior, accompany discussions about suicide and psychological health with available resources including chaplain support, Military OneSource, or the Military Crisis Line.

Additional safe messaging tips are available at http://suicidepreventionmessaging.actionallianceforsuicideprevention.org.
ADDITIONAL POSTERS, GRAPHICS, AND RESOURCES

The following resources address key campaign topics for 2021 Suicide Prevention Month and can be shared and displayed throughout FY-22. They are available for download from the Navy Suicide Prevention Program website on www.suicide.navy.mil ([suicide.navy.mil > Every Sailor, Every Day > Get Involved]) using the links below. Full-size versions of posters can be bulk-ordered from the Naval Logistics Library (NLL) free of charge. Display them in high-traffic areas including work centers, passageways, bathroom stalls, barracks, and mess halls. Links to digital versions of each graphic are also provided for use on social media. For additional posters and graphics, visit https://go.usa.gov/xUwmC.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Graphic Thumbnail</th>
<th>Description &amp; Link</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Warning Signs Poster&lt;br&gt;&lt;br&gt;Describes immediate warning signs of suicide using American Association of Suicidology’s IS PATH WARM mnemonic device and details how to intervene.</td>
<td>Social Media Graphic Poster</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lethal Means Safety Poster, Version 1&lt;br&gt;&lt;br&gt;Part of an ongoing series addressing ways to practice lethal means safety during times of increased stress.</td>
<td>Social Media Graphic 1 Social Media Graphic 2 Poster</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lethal Means Safety Poster, Version 2&lt;br&gt;&lt;br&gt;Part of an ongoing series of social media images addressing lethal means safety during times of increased stress.</td>
<td>Social Media Graphic Poster</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Security Clearance Poster, Version 1</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>-----------------------------------------</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Promotes the positive impacts that seeking help for psychological health concerns can have on one's security clearance eligibility and includes guidance on treatment that does not have to be reported when answering the security clearance questionnaire.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Social Media Graphic 1</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Security Clearance Poster, Version 2</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Promotes the positive impacts that seeking help for psychological health concerns can have on one's security clearance eligibility and includes guidance on treatment that does not have to be reported when answering the security clearance questionnaire.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Poster</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Social Media Graphic 2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Social Media Graphic 3</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Lethal Means Safety Fact Sheet</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Single page fact sheet addressing ways to practice lethal means safety, including firearm storage, use of gun locks and prescription drug disposal. Includes information on accessing free gun locks in the fleet.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fact Sheet</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
This Suicide Prevention Month, commit to accomplishing 1 Small ACT each day for 30 days to build healthy habits, be there for others and help prevent suicide.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Sunday</th>
<th>Monday</th>
<th>Tuesday</th>
<th>Wednesday</th>
<th>Thursday</th>
<th>Friday</th>
<th>Saturday</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>Focus on what you can control. Spend energy on the issues in your life that you can control instead of things you can’t help maintain a healthy outlook.</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>Get moving for #MondayMotivation. Exercise makes you feel good physically and mentally. Set some #goals for your next workout for a mental health boost.</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>Take &quot;me time.&quot; It only takes a moment of quiet to help center you. Take a few minutes to breathe deeply and focus on what’s important to you.</td>
<td>8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12</td>
<td>Phone a friend. Call up a friend you haven’t heard from in a while. Catching up is a great way to stay connected to your support system and foster healthy relationships.</td>
<td>13</td>
<td>Unfollow and unsubscribe. Take 10 minutes to go through your social media and email. Unfollow or unsubscribe from content that no longer serves you.</td>
<td>14</td>
<td>Be proud. Write a list of your accomplishments and let yourself be proud of them. Reminder: nothing is too big or too small to count.</td>
<td>15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>19</td>
<td>Ward off the &quot;Sunday Scaries.&quot; Set the tone for the week by taking time to complete a meditative practice that works for you like journaling, yoga, or walking.</td>
<td>20</td>
<td>Stop, lock, and live. Practice firearm safety via cable locks, gun cases, lock boxes, or gun safes to help keep you and those in your home safe.</td>
<td>21</td>
<td>Make asking for help a habit. Asking for help is a sign of strength. Like any good skill, it takes practice. When asking for help, focus on transparency, and directness.</td>
<td>22</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>26</td>
<td>Reflect. Take a moment to reflect. As the month ends, don’t forget that a win is a win, all progress is good progress.</td>
<td>27</td>
<td>Be honest. Have open, honest conversations about mental health and reflect on how you can be supportive of others in need.</td>
<td>28</td>
<td>Make gratitude an action. Tell friends/family why you appreciate them. Connecting with others helps us feel less isolated.</td>
<td>29</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Take 10 minutes to go unsubscribe.
Make asking for help a habit.
Identify your stress navigation go-to’s.
Practice safety. Take a few extra precautions to maintain firearm safety to keep you and your loved ones safe.

18 Safety to keep:
- Medications are properly locked and stored.
- Any firearms or lethal means are locked and stored.
- Gun safes to help keep firearms secure.
- Any medications are properly locked and stored.
- Any firearms or lethal means are locked and stored.

Listen actively.
Connection is a protective factor against suicide. Listening to understand fosters connection and helps others feel heard.

Refresh your sense of purpose.
Reflect on the things that energize you and connect with your values. Set aside time regularly for the activities that give your life more meaning.

Navy Suicide Prevention Month is not just a 30-day blitz of suicide prevention efforts; it is the starting point for year-long conversations on how to be there for Every Sailor, Every Day.
Where to Get Help:

- Your local Navy chaplain, Fleet and Family Support Center (FFSC) or medical
  - Chaplains: call 1-855-NAVY-311 (req. chaplain care) or visit www.chaplaincare.navy.mil
- Military Crisis Line:
  - Call: (800) 273-TALK (8255), press 1
  - Text: 838255
  - Chat online: https://www.veteranscrisisline.net/get-help/chat
- Military OneSource: call (800) 342 9647 or visit www.militaryonesource.mil
- Sailor Assistance and Intercept for Life (SAIL)
- Crisis Text Line: text 741741

Additional Resources:

- Defense Suicide Prevention Office: www.dspo.mil
  - Postvention Toolkit: https://go.usa.gov/xFTPj
  - Leaders Suicide Prevention Safe Messaging Guide: https://go.usa.gov/xFTPb
- Suicide Prevention Resource Center: www.sprc.org
- American Foundation of Suicide Prevention: www.afsp.com
- Human Performance Resource Center: www.hprc-online.org
- Suicide Prevention Training: https://go.usa.gov/xFTUUr
- Navy Suicide Prevention Handbook: https://go.usa.gov/xFTU4
- Project 1 Small ACT Campaign:
  - Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/project1smallact
  - Twitter: https://twitter.com/Proj1SmallACT
  - Flickr: https://www.flickr.com/photos/navstress/
  - YouTube: www.youtube.com/user/navstress
- SAIL Commander's Toolkit: https://www.navymwr.org/resources/marketing/cap/sail/sail-cdr-toolkit/

Project 1 Small ACT campaign resources and materials will be released throughout September and fiscal year 2021 on www.suicide.navy.mil. Follow us on Twitter @Proj1SmallACT and Flickr @OPNAVN171, like us on Facebook @Project1SmallACT and subscribe to our Project 1 Small ACT blog for more.